Business:

- x Minutes of the February 25 meeting: Dr. Quick asked for a motion to approve the minutes of the February 25, 2022 Graduate Council meeting, which were circulated to the committee before the February meeting. The motion was made, seconded, and unanimously approved.
- x MFA students in the Moody School: Council members were asked to review two documents with revisions intended to accommodate the inclusion of MFA students in the Moody School Moody School Administrative Handbook and the Moody School Travel Grant Guidelines. Council members provide any requested edits online, so a final version for the Council's vote could be compiled (see slide 5 below.) Updated versions of these documents were reviewed by the Council at the present (March 2022) meeting and additional clarifying edits were made based on Council members' input. Dr. Quick stated that the versions with these additional edits (see both below) would be shared with the Council after the meeting and an online vote on them held before the next Council meeting.
- x Public dissertation defenses: At the November Graduate Council meeting, the Council approved a policy to make Ph.D. dissertation defenses public and advertise them on the Moody School's website and calendar. At the February 2022 meeting, the Council voted to amend this policy to allow petitions for students to opt out of public defense of the dissertation with the stipulation that this would be the last revision made to the policy in response to the concerns raised (see slides 7-8 below). Dr. Itkin went through a revised version of the policy intended to address the concerns raised. Council members requested that the language be modified to be less specific about the situations in which an exception to the requirement that the defense be open to the public could be requested. Dr. Qu x Fellowship Nomination and selection process Dr. Quick stated that the goal of this discussion was to collect input on the processes for nominating applicants for Moody Graduate, Mustang, and University Ph.D. Fellowships and selecting awardees while these were still fresh in Council members' minds. There was still a long time before the next admission and fellowship cycle changes would be made immediately. Dr. Itkin went through the results of fellowship nominations so far and reviewed the nomination and selection processes (slides 15-18). Dr. Kraka suggested that the way nominees are ranked by departments might be hurting the odds of those nominees most suited for a University Ph.D. Fellowship from being awarded a fellowship, since those nominated for the Moody Fellowship will always be ranked #1, with applicants only nominated for a University Ph.D. Fellowship receiving a lower ranking. Prof. Molanphy raised four concerns: 1) committee members might need better instructions about how to evaluate candidates without GRE scores, so that qualified nominees without GRE scores are given equal consideration; 2) departments might be given better instructions for how to tailor the nomination to the criteria of the committee; 3) Reviewers might be given better instructions about how to evaluate the GPA, given the range of schools at which nominees earned their undergraduate degrees; and 4) the ratings of the committee members before the review meeting guides the discussion of the review committee more than discussion of individual nominees' qualifications and therefore the review committee might be given better instructions on using the full range of the 5-point scoring system.

x Outstanding Graduate Student Instruction Awards nomination and selection process Dr. Sheri Kunovich, Associate Provost for Student Academic Engagement and Success, and Prof. Karen Thomas, Director of the Center for Teaching Excellence, joined the committee to discuss this item. Dr. Itkin reviewed the nomination and selection process for the Outstanding Graduate Student Instruction Awards (slides 17-18). He stated that one recommendation already made by members of the review committee was to award one teaching award to a graduate student whose primary experience was instructor of record for a course and one for a graduate student whose primary
